

Price of Chilean Mesh Cable Trays

Article Overview

Wire mesh cable trays are highly cost-effective due to their low material cost, ease of installation, flexibility, and reduced labor requirements.

Material and Purchase Cost

Wire mesh cable trays are generally the lightest and most affordable type of cable tray, made from welded steel wire, which reduces the initial purchase cost compared to ladder or perforated trays . In Chile, local manufacturing or regional suppliers may further reduce costs by avoiding import fees and shipping expenses. Typical prices per meter range widely depending on material and finish, but wire mesh trays are consistently at the lower end of the spectrum .

Installation Efficiency

The open design of mesh trays allows cables to be laid directly without pulling through conduits, significantly reducing installation time and labor costs . Their lightweight nature (about 1/5 the weight of traditional trays) makes handling easier, and they can be cut and shaped on-site to fit complex layouts . This flexibility is particularly advantageous in data centers, offices, or industrial facilities where cable paths may change over time.

Maintenance and Scalability

Wire mesh trays provide excellent airflow, preventing overheating and dust accumulation, which reduces long-term maintenance costs . They also allow for eas...
